Chadbourne mill changes ownership

P.H. Chadbourne & Co. is under new ownership this week. Company officials said the ownership changed hands Monday, Nov. 3, with Bob Chadbourne becoming the sole owner.

Previously, the ownership had been held jointly by four children of Philip and Mary Chadbourne. The senior Chadbourne had built a mill on the Songo Pond Road in Bethel in 1936 and in 1938 moved the operation to its present location in South Bethel, later turning over ownership of the diversified lumber company to his children.

In consolidating the ownership, the company re-purchased the stock of Ted Chadbourne, Tom Chadbourne and Carolyn Holden, leaving Bob Chadbourne the sole owner, the latter explained.

Explaining the reason for the ownership change, Mr. Chadbourne said, "It was done to meet the long-term goals of the four individuals. We've taken months and years to get to this point. We're happy to have it continue under Chadbourne ownership."

Mr. Chadbourne said the company will continue to do its best in the highly competitive timber business. Additionally, he said, "We are taking steps to put ourselves in a more efficient and competitive position (by going into allied fields)." He mentioned the company will soon be producing power for CMP from a new cogeneration plant, and the company has expanded its contract with S.D. Warren for supplying that mill with wood chips. "The more things we can do to complement our business will help us."

The three former owners will serve as consultants during a transition period of the next few months, Mr. Chadbourne said.

As for the positions they had held, Mr. Chadbourne said, "To the extent possible current employees will be given the responsibilities formerly held by the former stockholders. We've got some very talented people here. My goal is to give them all the opportunities I can."

Woodstock tax bills out; 15 apply for manager job

Woodstock's tax bills went out yesterday (Tuesday) and carried a mill rate of $19.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This was a decrease of $.50 from last year's rate.

Selectmen last spring had predicted the school budget would cause the tax rate to escalate precipitously. Selectman Gary Wing explained what had caused the outcome to be different from expectations: "The taxes went down as a result of 'upward' revaluation of shorefront on continued on Page Three

Bethel officials raise fees for other towns using landfill

Bethel's Board of Selectmen Monday night acted to increase the fees being charged neighbor towns for use of the Bethel landfill.

Newry, which is experiencing rapid growth, was hardest hit. The selectmen raised the fee to that town to $20,000 for the coming calendar year. The present rate is $12,500. The year before that, the rate had been $5,500.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch pointed out to the selectmen that there will be 424 condominium units—an increase of 64 over last winter—at the skiway in Newry this winter, in addition to the 87 year-round houses and 53 seasonal dwellings in other parts of the town.

Whereas last year skiway management hauled the waste of 72 units to Norridgewock, this year—with the improvements made at the Bethel landfill.

and with the consent of the DEP—the skiway will be depositing all its solid waste at the landfill, Mr. Lynch said.

He added: "Eventually the landfill will be used up and we now need to begin setting funds aside for finding an alternative waste disposal solution and for closing out the (present) site."

The vote to raise the charge to Newry to $20,000 was approved 4-0. (Selectman Victor Coolidge was absent.) The fee increases for Hanover and Albany and Mason were held to 10 percent in view of their stable populations.

The board also markedly increased the cost of fire protection to Newry, setting the fee for availability at $5,500. It had been $3,000 this year and $200 the year continued on Page Three

Bethel tax rate up nearly 1 mill

Tax bills for the Town of Bethel should go out later this week. The tax rate will be $24.25 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This is an increase of 96 cents from last year's rate of $23.35.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch said money from surplus was used to keep the tax rate increase to a minimum. He also said the increase would have been higher if the originally proposed school budget had been passed.

Meanwhile, Selectman Pat Droen, who sat in on the county's budget-making process, predicted a big jump in the county assessment next year. The tax increase for the county should be about 17 percent, she said, as a result of cuts in federal revenue sharing.

Local winners are McKernan, Mills, Perry, Walker, Hanley

Local voters followed the voting pattern statewide and elected John "Jock" McKernan the next governor of Maine. Locally, the Republican standard-bearer piled up 1,186 votes to 799 for Democrat James Tierney, and 519 for Independent Sherry Huber and 492 for Independent John Menario. McKernan won in every town within The Citizen's circulation area.

Voter turnout was good in most local towns. Combined with the large number of supplemental questions on the ballot, clerks and ballot counters had to work late—until way past midnight in some cases—to come up with totals.

In races of local interest, incumbent Rep. Jeff Mills (D-Bethel) won handily against challenger Tom Winsor, piling up 2,065 votes to Winsor's 1,295, in District 49, which stretches north to Rangeley.

In other local races, Republican Dana Hanley beat Democrat Olive Moore for the District 51 seat, coming out ahead in each of the three towns of the district, including West Paris.

Incumbent Joe Walker had a relatively easy time with challenger (and former state senator) Roland Sutton in District 50, which includes Greenwood. Democrat

Walker beat Republican Sutton in each town of the district.

With some towns, such as Rumford, Mexico, Wilton and Jay, still not reporting, some vote totals were lacking, but talks with the candidates affirmed the following probabilities. In the District 53 race, incumbent Democrat Phyllis Erwin seemed a winner over Republican challenger Randy Hotham. Incumbent Francis Perry (D-Mexico) seemed a winner over Republican challenger Louis Cayer. And Gayla Sue Pulkkinen (the Democrat) seemed to be a winner over Vern Maxfield (the Republican) in the Register of Probate race.

Two races were too close to call, and even Wednesday morning (at press time) candidates were still not predicting victory. Those races were the state senate race pitting incumbent Ed Erwin (D-Rumford) against Republican challenger Russell Black, and the Register of Deeds race, where Republican Ted Tracy and Democrat Jane Rich were in a tight struggle.

Local voters strongly favored mandatory measured service, by a vote of 1,803 to 1,142. This mirrored the vote statewide.

On the bond issues, local voters were against all of them except the $6 million school construction bond. Statewide results were not yet known at press time. (For vote totals see pages 2 and 3.)

'Price of Freedom' at Telstar Thursday

"The Price of Freedom," a stage production of Telstar Regional High and Middle School will be presented Thursday evening (Nov. 6) at 7 o'clock at the Telstar auditorium. This will be a tribute to members of all branches of the armed services, in celebration of Veterans Day, with a special recognition of the U.S. Marine Corps. Visiting officers from various branches of the service will be present to participate. The public is encouraged to attend.

Opinions

A note from the publisher

Next Wednesday night the Planning Board will again take up the question of a permit for the proposed Eden Ridge subdivision. A goodly crowd will likely be on hand to observe the board's deliberations. The residents of Eden Lane, Paradise Road and Evergreen Road have all been particularly interested in the proceedings since they will be directly affected by the increased traffic and the increased demands on the neighborhood's water and sewer facilities as a result of 50 additional homes in the area.

Of course the development at Eden Ridge is of concern to the entire town because, as a town official said, this is just the first of many subdivision requests that will be made (more frequently) in coming years. (In fact, the Planning Board already has another 10-unit subdivision request on file for the Flat Road, in West Bethel.)

Birth and growth and decay and death are natural cycles, occurring in nature as well as in communities. The more creative communities plan for the various phases of the life cycle. I expect the Planning Board will have some sort of land-use ordinance to bring before the voters at next year's annual Town Meeting.

Speaking of growth, Bethel, Maine's situation is nothing compared to Bethel, Alaska's. Consider: In 1960 the population of Bethel, Alaska, was 1,258. In 1970 it was 2,416; and in 1980 it was 3,576. Last year it was estimated at 4,432.

Fishing and oil fuel the growth of Bethel, Alaska, which is located on the southwest coast, 450 miles west of Anchorage, and 475 east of the Soviet Union. Per capita income in Bethel, Alaska, is $26,528. But before you decide to move there, consider the price of housing. Construction costs are about $90 per square foot, for residential construction.

Bethel, Alaska, was settled in 1985 by Moravians from Bethlehem, Penn., who received a land grant from the U.S. government.

Rosie Porter, publisher of "The Tundra Drums," the local paper, says the place was really settled centuries before that by the Yup'ik Eskimos. Approximately 68 percent of the population is Yup'ik Eskimo even today.

Probably reflecting this high proportion of native American population, the percentage of the population that graduated from high school is only 30 percent. (In Maine, most communities have only 30 percent of the population that have not graduated from high school.)

The Citizen has begun a newspaper exchange with the paper in Bethel, Alaska, and from time to time I'll bring to your attention any interesting tidbits gleaned from The Tundra Drums. And, of course, if any of you are planning a trip to southwest Alaska, come in and have a look at that paper before you set off.

I had a difficult task last Friday. Together with Bruce Powell, of the school district, I had to be a judge at GANM II, to judge who had the best Halloween outfit among the workers there. Any one of the 20 outfits could have been a winner. We finally decided on a witch, who we later learned was Pat Anderson.

Being a judge places a lot of responsibility on a person. It's not all fun and games, like "Night Court." Sue Wheeler, who was one of the judges at the Savings Bank's Halloween contest for kids, told me she got a terrible headache as she and Don Katlin had to decide on the four winners. I don't blame her, because there

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Andover Cabot Lodge #117 of Knights of Pythias for their recent donation to the students of the Andover Elementary School.

As principal of A.E.S., I was deeply concerned that we would no longer be able to offer extra curricular athletic programs at the elementary level following the recent budget cuts. As many people know, these programs not only provide an outstanding feeder system for Telstar's athletic programs, but also enable the students of Andover to benefit from the many advantages associated with teamwork.

The Knights of Pythias' donation of $300, coupled with Mr. John Emery's willingness to coach Soccer and Basketball without compensation, means that the Andover School will, once again, be able to offer meaningful athletic programs for elementary students.

The $300 has been earmarked for transportation for athletic away games. Any remaining money will go towards transportation for academic field trips. A.E.S. is fortunate to benefit from an organization as thoughtful as the Cabot Lodge K. of P. We thank them for caring.

To the Editor:

The (Bethel) Board of Selectmen have become very concerned about the Main Street and Broad Street parking situation. In order to help relieve some of the congestion caused by patrons, visitor and employee parking, the Selectmen voted at their Oct. 6, 1986, meeting to promote the Town owned property behind the fire station as a public parking area. This would be for a 12 month trial period.

Hopefully by opening up this paved area for public parking, it will help lessen the immediate need for more expensive parking solution.

As always, the Board of Selectmen and Town Manager welcome any suggestions that will help us to deal with this growing problem.

Rodney C. Lynch

Town Manager

To the Editor:

As Superintendent of Schools, I wish to thank everyone involved—students, teachers, support staff, parents, grandparents, and volunteers—for an exciting and safe Halloween.

During the past four years, I have witnessed a concern and fear of the approaching Halloween evolve into an exciting and fun day and evening within our school district.

Each elementary school scheduled special daytime events around costume parades and classroom activities. Even the middle/high school got into the act were lots of excellent outfits there.

One person I didn't see receive a prize—and he should have—was Scott Dennis. I see Scott every week at Rotary and had commented on his new beard when he began growing it a few weeks ago. Well, for his "costume" he shaved half his face, tore up half his suit. Riddled his shirt and pants with what looked like buckshot holes, and ripped up one shoe. It was the perfect split personality: Dr. Jeckyl and Mr. Hyde. The photo here doesn't do his outfit justice. I hope you saw him. (I also hope he didn't get arrested and taken to AMHI.)

Scott said he did it because of a promise he made to his kids. The kids said they loved it. But I noticed Sandy, his wife, didn't want to stand too close to him.

Another notable character wore a mask and a long cape and walked silently through the bank, looking at everyone and saying "e'er a word. He did the same thing at our office: walked in, took a tour of the premises, scowling all the while, and walked out.

His identity, like his verbalization, must remain mum. But I gather he's the same person who put up a sign in front of his restaurant advertising "Mummy heart stew." The price—I believe it was $3.95—was right, but I was on a vegetarian kick that evening.

Other places where the big kids seemed to have as much fun as the little kids were at the Woodstock and Andover school parties on Halloween night. Then there was Bethel Furniture Stock, where you'd think the costumed workers would have been turning out broomsticks rather than chair backs.

In Telstar election: McKernan by a landslide

In a mock election held at Telstar Regional High School last week, "Joek" McKernan won the gubernatorial balloting by a landslide. Mr. McKernan received 121 votes, to 65 for Jim Tierney, 30 for Sherry Huber and 6 for John Menario.

The election was conducted by Rodney Abbott's three Public Issues classes, composed of juniors and seniors.

A week before the mock election, students were invited to register, and to select a political party if they so desired. A total of 745 students "registered." Of these, 101 enrolled as Republicans, 93 as Democrats, and 51 were Independents (not choosing to enroll in either party).

The three categories met separately in committee and elected chairmen, as follows: Barbara Bennett (Democrats), Dan Thurston (Republicans), and Dan Bennett (Independents).

In keeping with the realism of the learning experience, the different committees did campaigning on behalf of their favorite candidates (the Independents touting Huber or Menario). State House candidates Tom Winsor and Jeff Mills spent a day with the classes, and Sue Tierney—the wife of Jim Tierney—also visited the classes and answered questions.

While the Republican candidate easily took the governor's race, Democrat incumbent Mills won handily in the State House race, piling up 172 votes to just 56 for challenger Winsor.

On the other hand, Republican incumbent Olympia Snowe had no trouble trouncing Democratic challenger Richard Charette for the 2nd District congressional seat. The vote was 157-61.

Most of the other races were close. Russell Black narrowly beat out incumbent Ed Erwin for state senator, 116-107. Ted Tracy slipped past Jane Rich for the Register of Probate seat, 114-107. Gayla Sue Pulkkinen narrowly defeated Vern Maxfield, 109-106, for the Register of Deeds position; and Albert Carey took a slim victory over Frank York in the county commissioner's race, 113-106.

Mr. Abbott said he has been running the mock elections for nearly a dozen national elections and they have generally correctly indicated the winners. The only miscue was in the 1980 presidential election, when the students went for Jim-

SUNDAY RIVER MARKETING STAFF TO TRAVEL TO BOSTON

Sunday River Ski Resort's marketing personnel will be travelling to the Boston Ski Show to be held Nov. 13-16 at the Bayside Exposition Center in Dorchester, Mass. The staff will promote Sunday River and the Bethel resort community as New England's premier vacation destination.

The Sunday River marketing staff in conjunction with the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce has spent the majority of the fall season on the road with stops at ski shows in Chicago and Halifax, Nova Scotia; ski sales in Portland, North Conway, N.H., Braintree and Worcester, Mass.; and the Big "E" Exposition in Springfield, Mass.

In addition to Sunday River's and the chamber's efforts, the State of Maine Division of Tourism has initiated a program to encourage skiers to "Ski Down Maine" with print advertising and billboards in the Boston area.

Paula Berry, sales and promotion manager, asks any businesses wishing to promote the community at the ski show to contact her at Sunday River as soon as possible. A limited amount of complimentary show passes are still available on a first come, first serve basis.

Veterans Day observance at Locke Mills Nov. 11

Edgar Erwin, Rumford, retired colonel, U.S. Army, is the Nov. 11 speaker, in Locke Mills, for the Jackson-Silver Post's Veterans Day observance. State Senator Erwin is a veteran of four years active duty in World War II with 38 months in Africa and Europe, and a graduate of the Army Advance Intelligence School and three tours with the Navy Intelligence School.

The observance will start with an 8 a.m. flag ceremony at the Post home on the Gore Road.

At 9 a.m. units will assemble for the parade. First Vice Commander Leroy Patten will be the parade marshal. Order of march will be as follows: post colors and color guard; Telstar Marching Band, Harry Davis, director; firing squad, Jackson-Silver Post; Daughters of Union Veterans; car #1, World War I veterans and the disabled; car #2, chaplains with wreaths; car #3, World War I Barracks Auxiliary, Bethel, Boy Scouts, Ray Harrington, leader; Girl Scouts, Cubs, and Brownies; Awana Group, Bryant Pond; children.

Program at the honor roll: Star Spangled Banner, band; prayer, Post Chaplain, Rodney Hanscom; laying of the wreaths, chaplains; introduction of guests, Post Commander, Earl Colby; America the Beautiful, band; return to the hall.

Program at the hall: Star Spangled Banner, band; prayer, Chaplain Hanscom; Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag; presentation of guests, Commander Colby; The American Creed, Daughters of Union Veterans; "In Flanders Fields," Alanson Cummings; answer to "In Flanders Fields," Rev. Roland Lord; speaker, State Senator Ed Erwin, Rumford; singing, God Bless America, all; America, by the band; benediction, Roland Lord.

All veterans and their auxiliaries, including Bethel and West Paris, Daughters of Union Veterans, World War I Barracks, Boy and Girls Scouts, all youth groups are invited to march.

A car will be available for World War I and the handicapped veterans to ride through the courtesy of Sterling Mills of Bryant Pond.

Refreshments of coffee, doughnuts, punch and cider will be served by the auxiliary.

At the close, several veterans will go to the Ledgeview Memorial Home, West Paris, to visit the less fortunate veterans there.

Tax bills bedevil and befuddle West Parisians

'Twas the evening before Halloween and there was mischief afoot in West Paris, but it was tax bills not spirits that were upsetting the townsfolk.

Selectmen and the town clerk had labored hard for weeks to exorcise stubborn gremlins from the town's new computer-generated tax billing system, but when the bills finally went out they still bedeviled and befuddled taxpayers.

The strange looking new tax-bill format led some people to believe their taxes were already overdue, while many others were taken aback by the mysterious statement at the bottom of the bill claiming that their taxes—which had gone up—had been reduced by money the town had received through revenue sharing.

The selectmen spent most of their meeting that evening fielding questions about the new bills. The mysterious statement at the bottom, chairman Judy McLaughlin explained, was on the bills every year, but had been printed larger on the bill, causing confusion among people who had perhaps not noticed it in the past. The revenue sharing did in fact keep the bills down, she told one wary taxpayer, but of course they still go up.

Most taxpayers went back into the night reassured, but the selectmen are already at work seeking to find a less alarming guise for next year's bills.

And far into the new year they will continue to wrestle with the demons of re-evaluation.

LOCAL GAME GOES NATIONAL

"TA-KA-RADI," a game developed by Jeff and Patti Parsons, is featured in this month's "Lands End" catalogue.

The nationwide mail order catalogue goes to millions of homes each month. Mr. Parsons said "Lands End" called him and asked to buy a few thousand of the games, the object of which is to build a tower with wooden sticks and then see how many sticks can be removed before the tower comes crashing down.

While the Parsons have promoted the game locally, this is the first national exposure for the game and Mr. Parsons expects it to sell well. Mr. Parsons is one of the administrators at Outward Bound, in Newry.

860 moose killed in hunt

Maine's 1986 moose hunt ended Oct. 25, with a preliminary total of 860 moose registered as killed during the six-day season. The total moose kill has ranged from 745 to 883 in the five annual moose hunting seasons.

The heaviest bull recorded by the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife weighed 1,020 pounds, field dressed, and was taken by a Connecticut hunter, David Stewart, near Lambert Lake, in Washington County.

About 5,000 square miles of new territory was open to the hunters this year. Formerly limited to the area north of the Canadian Pacific Railroad line, moose hunting was legal this year in new areas of good moose range in western, central

Public meeting on how to avoid sexual assault

A public meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 10, at Telstar Regional High School, Room 105, at 7 p.m. The topic will be "Self Protection and Sexual Assault Avoidance." The program is co-sponsored by R.E.A.C.H. (Rape Education and Counseling Hotline) and Connections (a women's resource and support group).

The session—and other sessions scheduled for later in the month—are open to the public. Both men and women are invited to attend.

The leader of next Monday's session will be Lauretta Gegoire. She holds a black belt in karate and has been teaching classes in the Portland area in self-defense since 1980. Her classes, lectures and training programs focus on rape avoidance and self-defense for women. She is a frequent guest on TV talk shows and has produced an instructional video entitled "Women in Self-Defense."

According to government-funded studies, aggressive behavior, such as screaming, running, physical fighting and strong verbal aggression significantly reduces the likelihood of rape. If the woman becomes aggressive when she first becomes afraid, the odds of rape are lower than if she becomes aggressive later.

The value of self-defense training seems to lie primarily in strengthening the woman's self-image and enhancing her ability to pick up clues of danger earlier in the incident.

Later programs in the series on sexual assault will focus on the perpetrators, the criminal justice system, and incest/child sexual abuse.

R.E.A.C.H. is looking for volunteers to help staff the hotline. If interested, or for more information on the programs, call Debbie Dembski, coordinator, 743-2066.

Again, the rapid increase in housing in Newry influenced the selectmen, as did the fact that Newry is saving a lot of money by not having to purchase its own equipment. "Five thousand wouldn't even pay the interest on the money (to purchase a fire truck)," said Selectman Arthur Gilbert.

"They got away dirt cheap for years," added Selectman Peter Haines. Chairman Arlan Jodrey cautioned that the board should not get into a position of promising fire protection to Newry on a long-term basis. "In another five years they might be larger than us and they'll want their own fire department," he said.

ponds. (And) we re-did personal property and gained a lot there. That offset the school budget (increase) which we get the brunt of next year anyway. This year we got six months of last year's (school) budget and six months of this year's. We got a little bit more of revenue sharing than we expected, as well."

Selectman George Hooper continued: "The school budget (originally containing a nearly $600,000 assessment increase, subsequently scaled down to a below-$200,000 increase) would have done something to our taxes. But we did a five-year study of lakeshore property. We came up with a 40 percent (valuation) increase on ponds and lakes. The rest of the town would subsidize the lakeshore property otherwise."

With applications for the new position of town manager closing this week, the selectmen have already received 15 applications. Most came from the Portland

FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR FORESTRY IMPROVEMENT/OTHER CONSERVATION PRACTICES

County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) offices will be accepting applications for cost-sharing during a statewide sign-up to be held from Nov. 3 through Dec. 15, 1986. The cost-sharing program provides a means for landowners to obtain assistance in improving woodlands and correction soil erosion and water quality problems on farmland. Woodlots must be filed and approved before any work is started on a project. The winter months are an excellent area, while two came from the local area and one came from California.

The selectmen will reduce the number of candidates to five by going through the resumes. They intend to interview those five and then reduce the number to two finalists, from which they hope to be able to choose one. They have no set timeframe for the selection process.

time to do woodlot improvement projects. Weeding and pruning young stands that are not ready for a commercial logging operation could be eligible under this program. For the person interested in tree planting for long term timber production, signing up for the practice during this period will give time for the needed site evaluation and preparations for planting in the spring.

The agricultural producer who has erosion or water quality concerns is encouraged to come to the office to see what is available to help solve these problems. Again, by enrolling this fall, the preliminary work can be done this winter to allow correction measures to begin early ly in the spring. Installation of seedings, strip-cropping, contouring, diversions, animal waste facilities, are only some of the practices available to correct erosion and water quality problems.

Landowners or operators are encouraged to visit the county ASC office at 1 Main Street, South Paris, to learn more about the programs.

Participation in all programs administered by USDA is open to all eligible farmers regardless of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, handicap or age.

Telstar guidance dept. hosting sophomore parent night Nov. 6

Daniel Hart, guidance director at Telstar Regional High School will be continuing his annual series of Parent Nights for parents of students grades nine through 12 this fall.

These informational meetings are designed to help parents learn more about what guidance services their son or daughter will be provided with this school year. Parents of sophomores are invited to come to the Telstar library Thursday evening, Nov. 6, at 7 p.m. On that particular night, Mr. Hart's orientation will consist of an overview of guidance services, issues for students and parents, career choices (college, military, employment, vocational and school opportunities), testing, study habits and more.

Mr. Hart has worked many hours in developing this special presentation and is looking for a good showing of parents.

NOTES FROM Telstar Guidance

Calendar of guidance coordinated events for the remainder of November at Telstar Regional High School:

- Nov. 6: Sophomore Parents Night in the library, 7 p.m.
- Nov. 7: Husson College visitation in the guidance office, 12:00; end of first quarter.
- Nov. 10: Teacher workshop.

- Nov. 27-28: Thanksgiving recess.

Telstar's evaluation includes public

Telstar Regional High/Middle School has sent out over 460 Parental Opinion Surveys. The purpose of the survey is to assist Telstar in learning more about itself by measuring parental attitudes toward programs and related matters.

All of the information gained from the parents of each student will be used by the evaluation team scheduled to come in March of 1988.

Parents are encouraged to complete the survey and return it in the self-addressed envelope by Nov. 7. The staff of the school and community committee will use the information during the Nov. 10 workshop.

TELSTAR'S SPIRIT GROUP met last week to discuss ways of improving school spirit. The group, which is made up of students, parents and faculty, plans to regularly gather news from around school and submit it to The Citizen for publication. To aid in news collection the group has placed a mail box in the office and encourages students, faculty and staff to place articles and photos in the mail box. The next meeting is Nov. 18, 7 p.m., in the Telstar library. Everyone is invited to join and help spread the spirit.

Middle-schoolers sell $13,000 in subscriptions

In just a week-and-a-half, Telstar Middle School students sold $13,484 worth of magazine and book subscriptions. The middle school received $4,700 of that amount.

The money will be used to defray the cost of field trips, dances, winter carnival and some sports equipment. Each year the school student council contributes to a worthwhile school project.

Over 1,000 magazine subscriptions were sold in the drive. The top salespeople were Matt Arsenault, Crystal Chase, Jessica Fogg, Nate Buckman, Rachel Plawlock. The top homeroom was Mrs. Karen Bean's, 109. They will celebrate with a pizza party.

The middle schoolers thank the community for its cooperation.

Tex Fogwill stayed at the Mitchell-Griffin camp on Backstreet over the weekend. He had two visitor friends, Alex Von Fog of Fort Worth, Tex., and Matt Omar of Libya, North Africa. Tex says that he will be leaving for parts unknown in the very near future.

Joseph Bergeron and his cousin, Jerry Bernier of Bethel, were among the Cub Scouts who earned their Bobcat badges at the Pack meeting at Telstar Tuesday evening. These youngsters are part of the troop Den mothered by Laurie and Flossie.

CMP set three poles in preparation for electric light lines to Ray Bernier's place.

The telephone company has several vehicles in town daily. Some folks who've requested private phones are getting them installed.

Barry Swasey took the mail run for his parents one day. John is back on the job now after a lengthy vacation due to eye injury. His wife took care of the job while he was laid up.

Nathan Isley was at Stephens Memorial Hospital several days for treatment. He returned home.

Mrs. Richard Bean was also a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital due to a heart attack. Home now.

Barbara Gallant, Bethel, came and gave Eveline a perm Tuesday. Makes her feel younger, already.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher visited Joe's mother at Danvers, Mass., Wednesday. Hunting season will start Nov. 1, so they will visit again after Joe bags the deer. I can say that again. Mrs. Vatcher didn't ask to come with them. Maybe she felt she couldn't be any help on the deer trails.

Doris Lawrence went with Charlotte Cole to visit Gladys Stiles at Oxford. Charlotte sang a few songs, then they visited Evelyn Jackson who is in poor health. Callers at Lawrences: Arnold Coffin, Joe Vatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Penley Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Odell Heath, Mina Whittier.

Thursday afternoon Joe Vatcher took Benji and Trixie out hunting and at 10 p.m. Trixie was still out. So bright and early Friday morning Joe went searching. He found her caught in a trap by her left hand foot. She didn't bark or yip to draw Joe's attention but Joe happened to spy her so she will need a cane for a few days. No bones broke.

Esther Davis and daughter, Patsy Tibbets were in Brunswick last week, where they called on Velma Davis, who is in Mere Nursing Home.

Ellsworth Hathaway is improving from his recent trip to the hospital. He is able to be dressed daily and has visitors. His daughter was with him one day and they had a game of cribbage.

Olive Davis was in Bridgton Saturday where she visited with the Andrews families. Gary and Jackie Andrews and son Isaac, returned to Eugene, Oregon, Tuesday. So it was sort of a going-away visit. Paul Winkley was there for the weekend. Gary and went to Northboro with them for a couple of days visit there before taking the plane from Boston to Oregon.

Vera Buck and I were at Ledgeview Sunday afternoon to listen to Frank Knox's Orchestra, who entertain the patients there with their country songs. They called on Lizzie Russ, besides speaking to those they knew who were able to be at the musical.

Ralph Hoyt was in South Woodstock cleaning chimneys for some here. Joseph Zemaitis put in wood for Olive Davis. It is time the buildings and lawns should be prepared for winter now. Time is getting late.

I still have two gray kittens who would like a good home. Do you want them?

Field hockey JV's end winning season

Telstar's JV field hockey team finished its season Oct. 16 with a 7-4-2 record. A strong sophomore-dominated front line, consisting of returning players Janina Remington, Kim Delano and Alison Chapman, aided by freshman Marybeth Hannon, kept the Rebels active.

Great defense was provided by returning sophomore halfback Alison Davis, newcomers Missy Johnson and Lori Milton, both juniors out for the first time, and freshmen Becky Witter, Kris Clement, Rena Hutson, Carrie Olson, Audrey Thibodeau, Tracy Weston and Tracy Twitchell.

Coach Louise Chapman felt the strongest asset to her team this year was first-time goalie, sophomore Wanda Crockett. Although Wanda has actively participated in field hockey since middle school, this was her first time in the cage. Ms. Chapman felt her strength there was certainly an important factor in the team's success this year.

The team's stats for the season were as follows:

Total goals: Telstar, 18; opponents, 17.

Individual scoring: K. Delano, 8; M. Hannon, 4; A. Chapman, 3; K. Clement, 1; J. Dennison, 1; M. Robinson, 1.

Assists: A. Chapman, 11; K. Delano, 5; M. Hannon, 5; J. Remington, 3; M. Robinson, 1.

Goalkeeper saves: W. Crockett, 32. Shots on goal: Telstar, 72; opponents, 35.

CHEMICAL AWARENESS DAY TO BE OBSERVED AT TELSTAR

Telstar's Substance Abuse Team has announced that Nov. 7 will be the first annual "Chemical Awareness Day" for students and staff. The day's program involves faculty, administration and students.

The day will basically consist of opportunities for students to experience various methods for awareness of substance use/abuse. There will be two assemblies, one for high school and one for middle school, each sponsored by R.A.D.A. (Rebels Against Drugs and Alcohol).

Student representatives from various school groups, such as R.A.D.A., F.A.C.T. (Freshmen Awareness Team), and SELF (Self-Awareness group) will be assisting the substance abuse team with films during study halls.

During the lunch/study, staff and students will have the opportunity to meet in the lecture hall for a film and a chance to talk with faculty and student team members regarding concerns about various issues and to receive handouts.

This is geared to be an informational day, and the substance abuse team is coordinating these efforts with classroom contests sponsored by M.A.D.D. (Mothers Against Drunk Driving) and encouraging related class experiences during the day.

Bethel

By VIRGINIA WALKER

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stevens attended a birthday celebration at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold McLean in Lewiston last Saturday.

Bethel Senior Citizens will meet Wednesday, Nov. 12, at the Locke Mills Town Hall. The business meeting will be at 11 a.m.; lunch at 12 noon and program following. Mrs. Julie Hart from RSVF will be the guest speaker. Members are reminded that if they will be bringing a guest to the Christmas party at Bethel, they must let the president know by Friday, Dec. 5.

Betty Perkins, Muriel Butters and Virginia Walker attended the Oxford County Extension Open House at Dixfield last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Walker visited Aimee DeRoche, Fred Bauer, and Melissa Walker Sunday. They also watched the last soccer game of the "Chicago Sting" team in which Melissa played guard.

Mrs. Debra (buck) Haworth, a first year student of law at the University of Kansas, Kansas City, has been chosen as a member of the International Law Moot Court Team. Mrs. Haworth was chosen as one of a five member team. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Buck.

A cool but shiny morning this Halloween Day. Guess probably Jack Frost was on the pumpkins if there were any outside, last night. We don't expect too many Hob-Goblins tonight but one can get surprised at times so will try to be ready by doing a little cooking today.

Last Friday was a busy day for us as I had an appointment in town quite early and the had to go to Lewiston to the neurologist's for an appointment. He didn't do anything new but wants more x-rays of my spine to see if this newer type of x-ray will show anything that the Milogram didn't. Don't really expect it will but who knows? Wish I could find a store where they sold health, I sure would try to find enough money to get some. I'm sure I wouldn't be alone, either. Having troubles is no fun and I don't know which troubles cause the worst trouble; It is hard to tell. Anyway, one has to take life one day at a time no matter what is handed to them on that silver platter.

Peggy came home for a week so asked us to go to Sunkook, N.H., on Saturday to see an old friend who hadn't seen in about four years, I guess. We left on Saturday morning, bright and early so there wasn't much traffic and made good time going down. Left here about 6:25 and got to our friend's house at about 9:15 or a little after that. Anyway, it takes about three hours driving to get there. We found her cooking as she told us not to bring anything for food. I did take her a loaf of my famous zucchini bread and she didn't refuse it at all. Something to remind her of us for a short while, when she is eating a piece of it. Her health isn't the best so was glad to get to see her. We had a real nice visit and got home about 6:30 in the evening. I called my daughter as my oldest granddaughter wanted to come to stay for a couple of nights with me. They brought her up and I was glad to have so I could try the clown suit that I had in the making, on her. If it good so she will be a clown for Halloween. Courtney doesn't come as often as she used to now that she goes to nursery school two forenoons a week and dance class on Saturday morning. Her mother said she felt as though she was running a taxi as well as everything else. It takes a lot of time to take children to places like that but it is worth it in the end.

Didn't get as much sleep as I needed as Courtney coughed quite a lot in the night and it kept me awake but she seems only to have a cold. Those are always hanging around to land on an unsuspecting subject.

Sunday was a day for Grandma to play with Courtney with her letters of the alphabet. She doesn't know them all yet as we played games to help her learn them, and had fun at the same time. Cori and I went to the flea market in Oxford after lunch and her nap. Russell worked outside covering the rhubarb for the winter cold and putting ground up leaves on the garden spots to be rototilled in for fertilizer. Grace came down in the early morning to bring down papers for us

Arthur Ring, Freeport, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Ring, on Friday afternoon.

The Daughters of Union Veterans will meet on Monday, Nov. 10, at the grange hall for a regular meeting. The Daughters of Union Veterans will march in the Veterans Day parade on Tuesday, Nov. 11. The girls will repeat the American's Creed.

Beatrice Farnum went to Berlin, N.H., last week with Evelyn Bean, Ann Crockett and Esther Pierce shopping and out to dinner.

Norma Heikkinen, West Paris, was a dinner guest of Beatrice Farnum on Wednesday and they visited Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tyler.

Nov. 7 to 9 will be missionary conference with Mr. and Mrs. John Parschauer at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Farrington called on Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tyler and Beatrice Farnum last week.

Graduating from the hunter safety course with 12 hours of classes were Cory Campbell, Nathan Clukey, Sharlene York, Scott Hoyt, Joseph Marshall, Luz Oropega, Lynne Patrick and Albert Small. Leader was Ken Swan.

The next meeting of the Concerned Women for America will be Nov. 11, at 1:30 p.m., at the home of Sophie Zemaitis on Railroad Street in Bryant Pond.

to read and took our table to work on. She does a good job of refinishing furniture at times and is doing this for us as a Christmas gift. Quite a gift we think.

Throat got sore over the weekend and didn't feel very good on Monday so went to see the nurse practitioner. A throat culture was taken but proved to be negative from strep throat so after three days of medicine, I have had nothing to help. Can't seem to clear up the mess in my throat and don't know as yet what it is. Some little bug has gotten in and doesn't want to leave. That's life, I guess.

Got a call on Tuesday morning that made me feel real excited even if I didn't feel too good. Mary Lovejoy called to let me know that the chair lift at West Paris Grange was going to be put in that afternoon. What wonderful news that was. I told she better get pictures of it being installed on the lovely stairs the Grange has had made for it to be put onto. I don't know who did the job, but they did a great job and they have a beautiful set of stairs leading to the upstairs meeting room from the dining room. I had hoped to be at the Grange meeting for the dedication of the chair lift on Nov. 6, but wouldn't you know that my appointment in Bangor is scheduled for Nov. 7 at 9 o'clock in the morning and it takes a while to get there so can't be up the night before. I shall be thinking of the doings at Grange even though I can't be there.

While I am telling of the chair lift, let Thelma Lowery, Beatrice Lowell, Betty Clark, Louise Tetley, Gilberte Seeley, Bessy Etti, Eleanor Morton, Nancy Wight, June Swan, Olive Anderson, Sylvia Wight and Rena Powers were in Rumford bowling, Oct. 29. Nancy Wight was high scorer for the single and Louise Tetley and Gilberte Seeley tied for the three string. After bowling the ladies had lunch and went shopping.

Sue Wight, Susan Bowie, June Swan, Olive Anderson, James Anderson, Gilberte Seeley, Freda Robertson, and Sylvia Wight attended Bible Study at Sue Wight's Monday. The group is studying the Old Testament.

Susan Bowie, Freda Robertson, and Gilberte Seeley attended Sue Wight's art class at the Bethel House community room Tuesday.

The Mother's Club will meet Nov. 8 at the club room at 7:30 p.m. Each member is to bring a craft article for the craft show, which will be held at the Cozy Inn Nursing Home in December. Their will be a game party at this meeting. Each member is to bring a small, wrapped gift. Helen Morton, Sylvia Wight, and Olive Anderson will be on the refreshment committee.

The title of Pastor Hanscom's message Sunday was "Out of the Depths" with scripture reading the First Psalm.

Wendy and Jay Hanscom called on Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Hanscom and Nancy, Bethel, Friday evening.

me tell you of a few other things taking place at West Paris Grange. Nov. 6, the dedication of the chair lift; Nov. 8, there will be a public supper starting at 5:30 to 7:00, I believe, and at 8 in the evening, a dance upstairs like the others that they have had lately. They have good clean dancing and all have had fun that attended the dances. On Dec. 5, there will be a "what-not-sale" as well as food and arts and crafts and whatever for Christmas as well as secondhand things. All for a good cause as they still need to earn a little more to help them in the task they have set for themselves. If you should see any of the members of West Paris Grange, ask them about the quilt they are selling tickets on. It is a beautiful quilt made by Katie Tamminen and was on display at Fryeburg Fair. I saw it and that is why I say it is a beautiful quilt. The lucky winner will know on Dec. 18 who he or she is.

Mary asked me to tell all who left dishes after the public supper for the benefit of Tom Elliott, that they can get their dishes by coming to the Grange Hall on Nov. 6 when there is a Grange Meeting or Nov. 8 when the public supper is held. She took the dishes home to wash and as I understand her, she took them back to the hall for folks to pick up there. You could contact her for further information if you wish at 674-2147. Thanks to everyone for the help on the benefit supper.

Brett Wilson also attended the birthday party for Grayson Wakefield in East Bethel last week.

Joe and Muriel Gilbert had dinner at Jean and Al Collet's in Sebago on Sunday. Jean has been learning cake decorating and had a beautiful birthday cake for her mother.

Wednesday, Blanche and Rosalre Gagnon, Bill and Germaine Lauze and Lil Lauze, all of Lewiston, visited Joe and Muriel.

Leah Deegan arrived in Maine Friday, Oct. 24, after spending a week in California with Hank, Kathy, and Denny Lessard. Danny celebrated his first birthday while his grandmother was there. Leah stayed overnight with Henry and Betty Deegan and family at Cape Elizabeth and came up home on Saturday.

Marion Soule and a couple of her friends from Palermo are planning to make a trip around the area tomorrow.

We wish Koral Smith a speedy recovery. She has been out of school for a week with strep throat and mono and will be out another week as well.

Nathan and Jennie took their mother, Leslie Moore, to the Halloween Howl, put on by the Telstar Drama Department, I understand.

Children through grade 6 enjoyed the fun, games and safety of the Halloween Howl. People of the district should be made aware of and be impressed by the super job done by the Telstar group.

Hopefully someone involved has taken pictures and has a write-up to contribute to The Citizen. The public needs to know the positive things that go on at school, we certainly hear anything that's negative. The PR has to be done by the people involved. It can't be done for them. So get your news into the Spirit mailbox in the Telstar office.

per. It was a great success and hopefully, the public supper will draw a good crowd, also. I should have said that Chester Hayes of the Shelburne, N.H., Grange will be present and help with the dedication on the chair lift. Just wish things were different so I could be there, also.

Have been to my regular doctor for back treatments etc. on Wednesday. Also went for some bunkbeds for the girls to sleep in when they are visiting. Our sister, Laura Hutchins of Andover, has wanted Peggy to come up to visit so we went Thursday of this week and had a lovely lunch and visit with Laura and Bernard. A little windy up that way but didn't get blown away.

Did a wash this morning and Russell hung it out for me so hope it dries good. Looks now like a lovely day even if it is a little cool around the edges.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the First Congregational Church is having their Christmas bazaar on Saturday, Nov. 8, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Delicious food, yummy cookies, many pretty items for gift giving on the greens, household and knitting tables, and, for the first time, a table of goodies for "children only," age 12 and under will be featured. A public luncheon, featuring green split pea soup with choice of ham or egg salad sandwich, pickles, crackers, and beverage, will be served at 11:30. Hope to see you there!

Mrs. Paul Cayer, East Andover, was taken by ambulance to Stephens Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, where she remained with a broken pelvis.

Mrs. Kathy Williamson, Andover, and Mrs. Laura Hutchins, attended the Oxford County Municipal Officers' Association meeting, held at the Denmark Church on Wednesday evening, Oct. 29.

Featured speakers were Bob Remy of the Maine Municipal Association and Gary King of the Maine State Retirement System. Together and separately they presented pertinent, helpful (and confusing) information regarding Social Security and Medicare coverage that all municipalities have to withhold from all employees, some effective as of April 1, 1986, and the whole coverage has to be implemented by Jan. 1, 1987, on any employee's position that might have been listed in an agreement with the Maine State Retirement System as exempt, in prior years.

On Thursday, Oct. 30, our visitors and dinner guests were brother Russell Yates and sisters, Viva Whitman and Peggy Blake, all of High Street, West Paris. I had a fun morning planned and work all ready for them, but they arrived too late! (I was in the popcorn-ball making business for tonight's ghosts and goblins!) They got here in time for a sample of the end product, anyway.

Like Arline Bernier in Upton, I too sat up late hours to watch the World Series baseball games. For the most part they all gave a valiant try, but some things are just not to be, and a triumphant win for the Red Sox was one of those things this year.

ELEANOR GORDON GUILD
The October meeting of the Eleanor Gordon Guild was held at the home of Betty Perkins with Wilma Gorman as co-hostess. Workers for the candy table at the church fall sale were assigned. A silent auction was held and delicious fall desserts were served by the hostesses. The next meeting will be at the home of Debbie Adams, Nov. 12, at 7 o'clock. The program will be making popcorn balls for the sale the following Friday and Saturday.

From here, now, I see a valley with a ragged unkempt look, as if things had been neglected. The roadsides have swirling, rustling leaves and milkweed pods that are spilling their white fluff-like feathers. Vines dangle from bushes and loop around poles and trees. New plants will thrive in all this litter, and they will be new life.

The autumn days shorten but now that the leaves have dropped the hills no longer look so remote. It is good to stand and see the vast span of the rolling hills that stretch on and on.

The oaks however are displaying their colors at their best. Their acorns drop by the roadsides where the squirrels hunt them out.

The days move more swiftly for they are short.

Most of the summer birds have gone and the winter birds are coming from the woods.

From my woodshed I heard the magnificent tattoo of the pileated woodpecker. I wanted to go and search him out but couldn't at that time.

A flock of geese flew over. Most birds migrate in silence but not the geese! First there was a distant gabble that seemed to awaken the whole sky. As I stood to look and listen, searching there was no mistake the geese were coming closer. Then I saw them marking a clear V in close formation, so I was quite sure they were the Canada geese not the snow geese which are less common and fly a looser waving line. On and on they flew toward the south until only their restless echo could be heard. I hope they have a safe journey. They, too, have conceded that summer is at an end.

Beautiful weather this week and a busy one.

On Tuesday, our Club met with Katie Tamminen at her home.

Doris Hayes and I joined other teachers at the Slattery cottage on Whitney Pond in Oxford. We enjoyed a nice dinner and a sociable afternoon.

On Thursday I visited my brother, Frank Curtis, at Stephens Memorial Hospital. His wife and his twin brother, and wife, also visited him.

Two neighbors were taken at the Stephens Memorial Hospital this week, John Betts and Ernest (Skip) Morris.

Robert Holt, Windsor, spent one day here helping his father. They and Milton Inman worked on my garage.

Kathy Curtis called on me on Saturday. Fred and Rena Curtis went with their son, Albert and wife to their son Walter's camp in Kingsbury on Saturday for the day.

Eldith Lang was a visitor at Fay Holt's day recently.

SHOPPING

DEC. 6

Based upon last year's successful shopping spree to BOSTON and QUINCY MARKET, we are pleased to announce that we will be repeating this fun day. Please note that we have chosen a Saturday this year, based on the comments from our eager shoppers, that some stores did not open until noon on Sunday and, therefore, felt their time was limited. $22.50 is the cost for the day. There will be a lunch stop, however, meals are not included.

Health Center had its beginnings in 1949

The Bethel Area Health Center is governed by the Northern Oxford Health and Service Council—a volunteer body of community residents, with a long history of involvement in the health and welfare needs of Bethel and surrounding towns. Community support for a health center has been apparent in this area for at least three decades.

Early organization minutes show that the Northern Oxford Health and Service Council was originally a committee of the American Legion, known as the Community Welfare Fund. The first formal meeting of this committee was held Aug. 29, 1949, at which time its seven members elected a president and secretary/treasurer.

The first fund-raiser, which was to become known as Mollycodd Day, was held Aug. 30, 1949, and netted $1,614.48. Six hundred dollars of that money was immediately spent to help two families in the community who were in need of financial assistance. Subsequently, the committee formally determined the purpose of the fund, which was for "emergency distress cases not helped by the Town."

This committee continued to function until August of 1966, when the turnout for the annual bazaar was very disappointing. It could be said that "burnout" had occurred, and the committee decided not to elect any officers. In March of 1967, the bazaar general committee was merged with the Health Council, and the two organizations were incorporated on April 12, 1967 as the Bethel Health and Service Council Inc. The annual bazaar was officially named Mollycodd Day and continued to be held as the major source of revenue for the new organization.

The new organization, displaying foresight, broadened its objectives to include "whenever necessary, any type of health service and safety program in the township of Bethel and such bordering towns as are deemed to be in need." An emergency fund was maintained for the purpose of rendering financial and other assistance in emergency cases as recommended by the finance committee.

The decade of the '60s showed a resurgence of enthusiasm on the part of council members. A broad range of programs were sponsored by the council, including such things as the clothing barn, medical loan closet, holiday food baskets, immunization clinics, dental health program and child health conference. Many of these programs, in addition to others, are still being offered by the Bethel Area Health Center. The council's enthusiasm and ability to increase services was aided by a $10,000 gift, in January 1963, from a summer visitor to the area.

Interest was expressed by many community people as early as 1962 in attracting another doctor to the area and a committee was formed to undertake this ambitious project.

Health Center's formal opening Nov. 9th, 1-4 p.m.

The Bethel Area Health Center will hold an open house and reception Sunday, Nov. 9, from 1 to 4 p.m.

The occasion will mark the formal opening of the Health Center's new facility on Railroad Street.

The community is invited, and encouraged, to attend.

Providing direct health service 24 hours a day, seven days a week, was an ambitious goal, and it would be many years before this goal would become a reality. The interest of the council was constant, however, and unwavering. Many meetings were held with community representatives and area physicians.

The '60s was the height of physician specialization, and the general practitioner, willing to serve a community 25 miles away from a hospital, had become a vanishing breed.

During this time a group of people attending a Patriots game in Massachusetts made a banner and held it aloft to TV cameras. It stated that Bethel, Me., needed a doctor. The council members had obviously not lost their sense of humor. However, the banner did not produce a physician.

In the early 1970s, a renewed effort was made to attract a physician to Bethel. The idea of a health center, possibly a satellite of either Rumford Hospital or Stephens Memorial Hospital, was investigated.

In 1974 an agreement with Rumford Hospital seemed imminent. That institution desired to staff a satellite clinic with a full-time physician's assistant and a licensed physician who would supervise the physician's assistant as well as see patients on a part-time basis in Bethel. In April of 1975 a physician's assistant began practice in temporary quarters in the Gould Academy infirmary, with the expectation of a physician arriving in May. However, a news release shortly after the opening of the Gould clinic confirmed rumors that the physician would not be coming to Bethel, and the physician's assistant, who had to be supervised by an M.D., could not continue.

With the arrival, in July 1975, of two physicians—a husband and wife team—the major goal of the council, that of physician coverage, appeared to be met and further efforts toward the establishment of a health center were ended.

However, two years after their arrival, the physician team moved to Dixfield and Bethel again found itself without a full-time physician.

In March of 1978 the Bethel Health and Service Council reorganized one more time, changing its name to Northern Oxford Health and Service Council, and it set as its goal establishing a health center in Bethel.

In August 1978 the council submitted grant applications to both the National Health Service Corps and the Rural Health Initiative Program. Subsequently, Bethel was designated a medically underserved and health manpower shortage area and received Corps support. A National Health Service Corps physician was hired to staff the Health Center starting in August 1979.

With renewed enthusiasm the council searched for, and obtained, an acceptable facility to house the center. It was an attractive, but older, frame structure in the middle of Bethel, easily accessible to most of the catchment area, in particular the older population.

Since federal funding was not to come for over a year, volunteer labor—for renovations—and donations from local service organizations to purchase necessary equipment were solicited. The Bethel Area Health Center opened its door on Jan. 2, 1979, with part-time provider coverage. However, by the fall of 1979 the center had coverage enough to be open 48 hours a week and provide 24-hour emergency care.

The immediate goal having been achieved, the council began planning for an expanded health care facility.

A major fund-raising program was initiated in 1985. Many public meetings were held to seek input from area residents. A telephone survey was conducted to confirm the needs of the community and also to solicit constructive criticism. The surveys confirmed the need for expanded laboratory and x-ray facilities, along with the addition of specialty physicians on a weekly or monthly basis.

Fund-raising for the new facility was carefully planned and executed, beginning in June 1985, and culminating with the purchase and renovation of the present facility, which had been an A&P supermarket.

It can be honestly stated that the funds were raised by the combined efforts of all area residents. Donations were gratefully accepted from all, and no outside fund-raising consultant was necessary.

Over $100,000 was raised from the community for the half-million dollar facility. The remainder of the cost of the property, renovation and equipment came from a grant from the Bingham Betterment Fund, the sale of the former center building, an FmHA loan and retained earnings.

When the building was complete, in late-September of this year, the problem became one of: how to move seven years of accumulation of medical equipment, records, desks, examining room furniture and staff from the old building to the new facility, and continue to provide health care for the community without interruption.

With the entire staff and council working, and a skeleton staff staying on duty to care for emergencies, the move began Friday morning, Sept. 26, 1986. By 9 p.m. the move was complete. On Saturday, Sept. 27, the Bethel Area Health Center began to serve the public from its new quarters. It was the culmination of 37 years of dreaming and diligence.

The Health Center trustees and staff are proud of the new facility—the new beginning that it offers and the dream

A brief chronology of the BAHC

1949: The Community Welfare Fund Committee is organized within the American Legion in Bethel. Its aim is to aid distressed families.

1957: The Welfare Fund Committee merges with the Health Council to form the Bethel Health and Service Council Inc. Objectives include offering health and safety programs to the community, in addition to aiding distressed families.

1962: The council begins to search for a doctor to provide day-in and day-out health care to the community.

1978: With federal aid, the council, renamed the Northern Oxford Health and Service Council, decides to establish a community health center.

1979: Tom Brown's Tourist Home, on Main Street, Bethel, is rented as quarters for the Bethel Area Health Center.

1983: The council purchases the Tom Brown Tourist Home.

1984: The council signs a purchase agreement to buy the former A&P building on Railroad Street, Bethel.

1986: The Bethel Area Health Center moves into new quarters in the completely renovated A&P building.

Congratulations to The Bethel Area Health Center.

These are the people who are the heart of the health center

As the Health Center has grown over the last seven years, so has its staff. The majority of staff has been with the center for four years or more, and together represent more than 35 years of service to the Bethel area community.

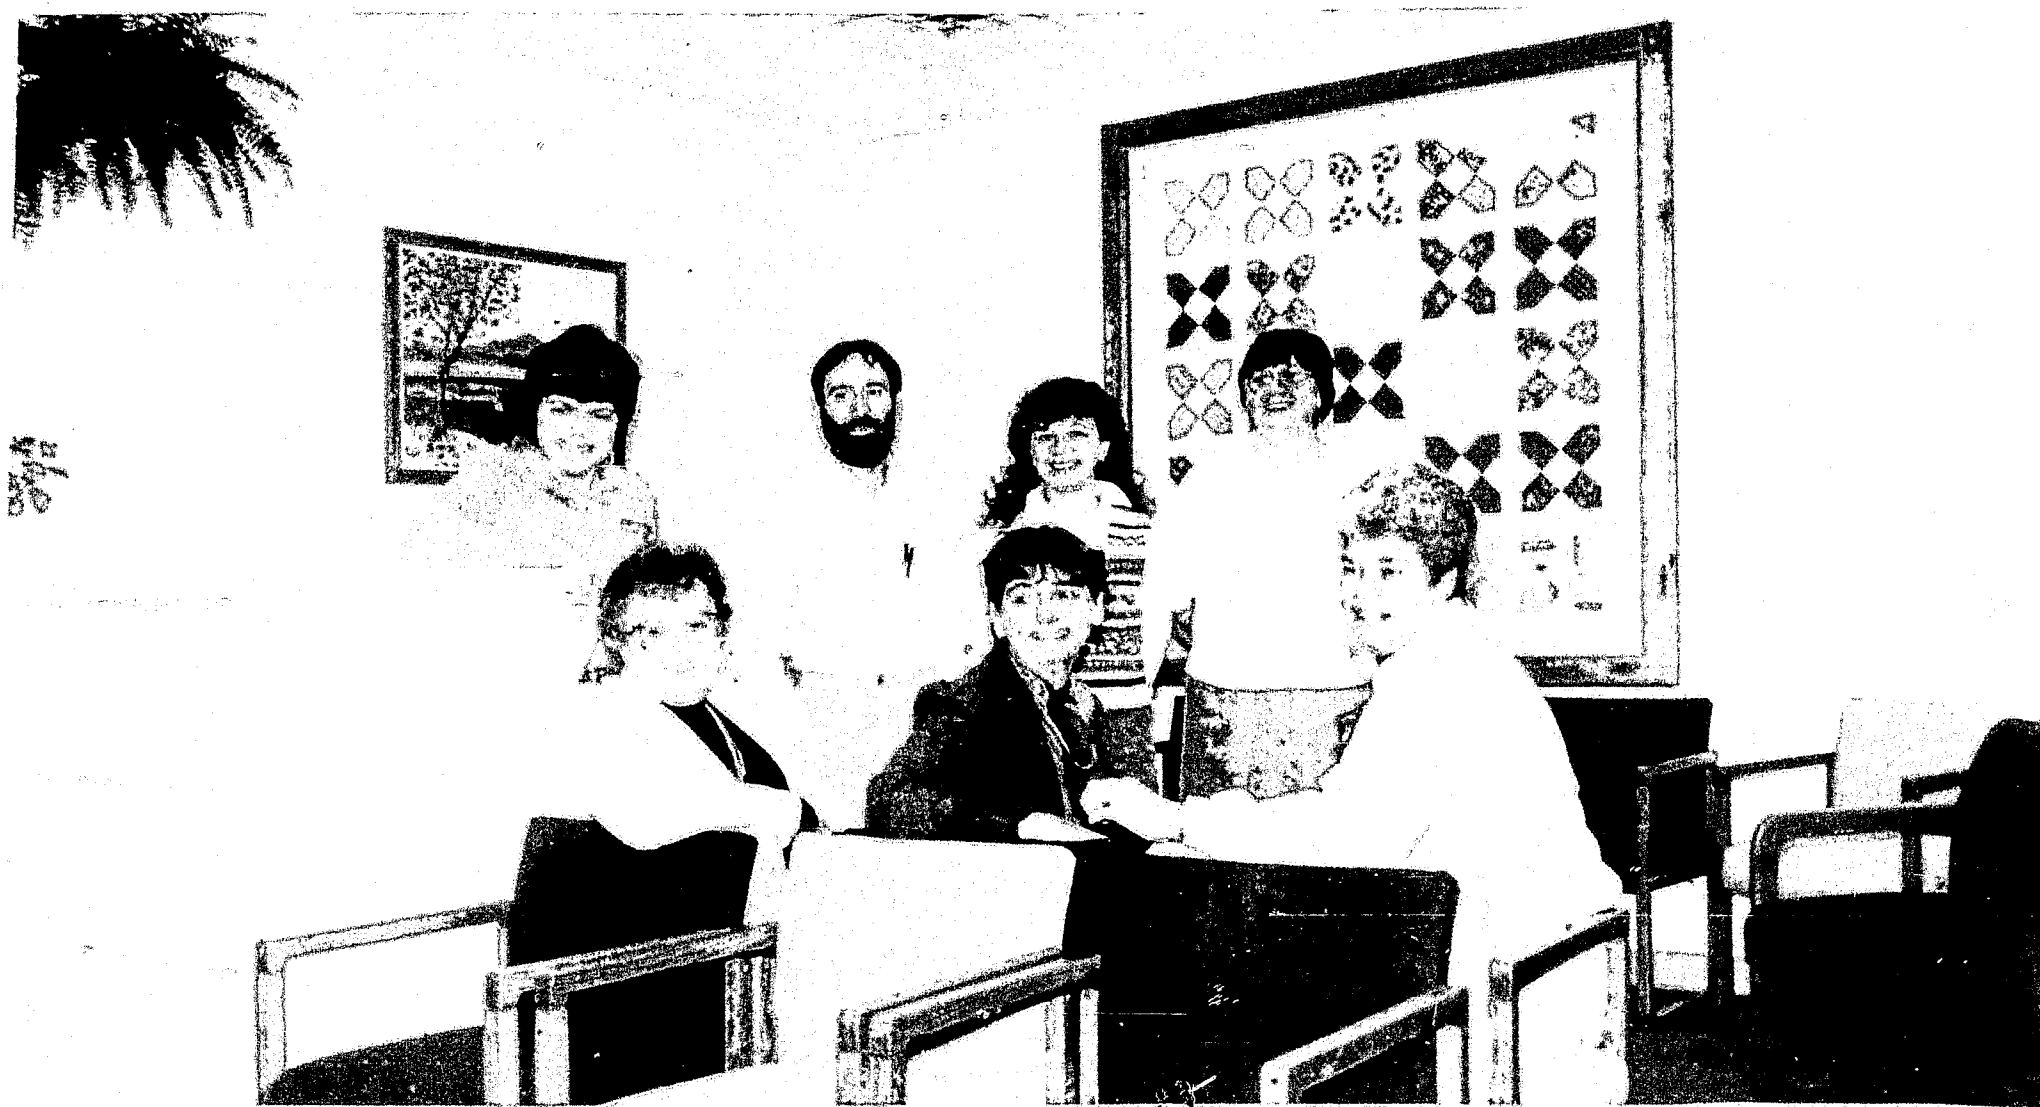

Executive Director: The community board employs an executive director to oversee the daily operation of the center, manage its many programs and act as liaison between the center staff and the community.

Shirley Powell has been the council's director since the opening of the center. After more than 15 years of experience in community and organizational development for both educational and voluntary health organizations, Mrs. Powell moved with her family from Connecticut to Maine in 1978.

Mrs. Powell's presence assures that the major emphasis of the Health Center remains community-oriented rather than physician-oriented.

Medical Director: The center has been fortunate in recruiting a very qualified physician to fill the position of medical director. Will Taylor, M.D., is a board-eligible family practitioner with close ties to the state of Maine, as his wife—Mary—is a native.

Dr. Taylor received his B.S. degree in biochemistry from Michigan State University in 1974 and then spent four years as a teaching and research assistant at the University of Maine at Orono while pursuing a doctoral degree in marine biology. It was during this time that Dr. Taylor became interested in becoming a physician. He graduated from the University of Vermont Medical School in 1983. As a third- and fourth-year medical student, Dr. Taylor did clinical rotations at Maine Medical Center and five months of rural practice in Norway and Strong, during which time he worked with Tom Whitney, M.D., and Jan

Whitworth, the Health Center's present physician's assistant.

In July 1986 Dr. Taylor completed a three-year residency in Family Practice from St. Mary's Hospital, in Milwaukee, Wisc. This residency included a strong emphasis in obstetrics as well as general medicine. Dr. Taylor and his wife Mary are expecting their first child in December and hope to remain here on a long-term basis.

Physician's Assistant: The center's physician's assistant is Jan Whitworth. Ms. Whitworth is a graduate of Messiah College, in Grantham, Penn., where she received a B.S. in Health Education. She holds a Master's equivalent in Health Education from Temple University, in Philadelphia, and is a graduate of Philadelphia's Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital, which is an approved two-year training course for physician's assistants.

Ms. Whitworth is the center's resident expert in emergency medicine, having taken numerous specialties in emergency medical techniques. Ms. Whitworth is presently expanding her knowledge to include x-ray techniques in preparation for the new center's expanding x-ray facilities. The local physician's assistant for over four years, Ms. Whitworth has settled into the community and intends to stay.

Pediatrics: Tom Whitney, M.D., is a long-time advocate of the Health Center. He was one of the original staff and has contributed greatly to the center's existence today. He now practices in the Norway area but comes to the center one day a week. Dr. Whitney's specialty is pediatrics, but he also has extensive experience in family practice, acute illness in adults, and has served the needs of the community very well.

His special interests include developmental problems and chronic illness in children. He has also been involved with educational programs on child abuse in Maine.

Dr. Whitney lives in Norway with his wife and their three daughters.

Nursing Staff: Kathie Parker is the center's Licensed Practical Nurse. She is a graduate of the L.P.N. program at Central Maine Vocational Technical Institute, in Lewiston. A life-long resident of the Bethel area, she has been with the center for six years. Her special area of interest, in addition to her regular duties, is in working with teenagers. She has attended workshops and has taken extra courses in the area of teenage sexuality, depression and suicide.

Jeanne Thornton is the latest addition to the nursing staff. Mrs. Thornton is married and lives in Bryant Pond. She recently graduated from Central Maine Vocational Technical Institute as an L.P.N. Now that her children are grown and on their own, she has time to concentrate on a second career. Although presently employed on a part-time basis, the anticipation is that Mrs. Thornton will be a full-time employee within a year.

Front Office staff: Mary Myers has also recently joined the Health Center as receptionist. Mrs. Myers has had past experience as receptionist and transcriptionist as well as serving on the volunteer ambulance team for more than 10 years. As the receptionist, Mrs. Myers is the center's "traffic controller," an often stressful position. She is the patient's first contact with the center. Her major responsibility is to keep the center operating smoothly while, at the same time, maintaining a balance between scheduling all the people who need to be seen without overburdening the providers or making the center run hours behind schedule.

Jean Blanchard is the center's medical records keeper. A graduate of Mid-State Business School, in Auburn, Mrs. Blanchard has been with the center since February 1982, starting as receptionist. When the center's previous part-time medical records person left to take a position elsewhere, Mrs. Blanchard transferred to medical records. She brings a great deal of experience to that position.

Administration: Bookkeeper/Secretary Mary Brown has been with the center since September 1980. She primarily handles the secretarial/bookkeeping tasks for the Health Center, as well as assisting the director in managing the wide array of programs offered by the center.

Mrs. Brown is a long-time resident of Bethel. She worked in the school system for 12 years and served on the volunteer ambulance team for more than eight years.

Ancillary Services: Muriel Whitney, RN-C, is the elderly services coordinator, having received her certification in gerontology from the American Nurses Association, in 1984. When formal agencies are not available, Mrs. Whitney tries to employ an informal network, such as family and friends, in the holistic care of the elderly to delay or prevent nursing home placement.

Additionally, Mrs. Whitney is in charge of coordinating all educational programs, such as hypertension, diabetes, flu clinics and informational evenings in conjunction with adult education.

During the past year, Mrs. Whitney also became certified as an OSHA hearing conservationist. She conducts hearing tests for employees of the local mills who are required to have baseline and annual hearing tests performed by an approved hearing conservationist.

COMPARING NOTES, staffers Muriel Whitney, RN-C, Jan Whitworth, P.A., Will Taylor, M.D., and Kathie Parker, L.P.N., confer in one of the center's treatment rooms.

Dr. Thomas O'Meara

JEAN BLANCHARD, the Health Center's medical records keeper, is one of the friendly faces in the reception area.

Health Center offers numerous ancillary services

In addition to the regular health care services offered by the Health Center staff, the center offers many other services through contractual agreements with other health professionals.

Becky Hardy, M.S.W., a substance abuse counselor, is available two days a week at the Health Center. Ms. Hardy, in addition to regular appointments, has a "drop-in" time during which people can drop in, free of charge, to meet her and discuss in broad terms their problems or those of a loved one in order to help them decide whether they wish to seek counseling or treatment.

Ms. Hardy also provides outpatient services and community consultation for people with personal, family, marital or work problems. She provides counseling to residents of Bethel and surrounding areas weekly by appointment. Both services from Ms. Hardy are provided through an agreement with Tri-County Mental Health Association.

Podiatry services are available once a month at the Health center. Dr. Maurice Gardner, a podiatrist from Lewiston, sees patients one day a month, either by referral from a primary care physician or by appointment directly from the individual patient. Dr. Gardner specializes in the diagnosis and surgical or medical treatment of diseases, injuries and other defects of the foot.

Through an agreement with HEAR Inc. (Hearing Evaluation and Rehabilitation), of Lewiston, Tim Dunnigan, MACCC, a licensed audiologist, is available at the Health Center one day a month to provide full audiological services as well as hearing aid services. HEAR Inc. is a full-service audiology practice and offers complete clinical audiology.

The Health Center remains committed to preventive medicine and offers a number of ongoing health education programs, as follows:

- prepared childbirth
- hypertension
- diabetes education
- flu clinics
- smoking cessation classes

This year the Health Center is sponsoring the American Red Cross blood drive in the Bethel area.

In addition to in-clinic services, the Health Center also makes house calls if the patient truly cannot get to the center. For some people who are homebound, all their personal contacts with the health center will be home visits. However, the Health Center encourages people to come to the center, as that is where the equipment and supplies are to make examination and treatment more thorough and efficient.

It is appropriate, however, to call and request a house call if the patient is permanently or temporarily homebound or is too injured or too sick to be moved.

The Health Center recently hired a second physician. Thomas O'Meara, a third-year resident in family practice at the Eastern Maine Medical Center, in DISCUSSING CHEMICAL DEPENDENCY, Becky Hardy, M.S.W., leads one of her group discussions on substance abuse.

Bangor, will join the center staff in August 1987. Dr. O'Meara received his degree of medicine in 1984 from the University of Vermont Medical School. Prior to entering medical school, Dr. O'Meara worked at Eastern Maine Medical Center for three years as a physician's assistant. He and his family are very familiar with Maine and are looking forward to a long association with the Bethel Area Health Center. His wife, Elizabeth, is a first-grade teacher. They have two sons, Michael, 14, and Matthew, 12.

With the addition of a second physician to the practice, the center will add in-patient hospital services to its practice. Thus, the center physicians will be able to follow patients through illnesses requiring hospitalization as well as ongoing out-patient needs.

The expanded facility will also enable the center to provide many additional services to the Bethel area community. In addition to x-ray services, which should be operational by January 1987, the center is also looking at additional laboratory services. The center also plans to provide space to interested specialty physicians in order to enlarge the scope of services that are provided in Bethel.

THE HEALTH CENTER ALWAYS ENTERS A FLOAT in the Mollycodd Day parade. Mollycodd Day was the original fundraiser for the predecessor of the Health Center.

KEEPING TRACK OF THE TEMPERATURE OF THE FUND-RAISING DRIVE last year were Muriel Whitney and Mary Brown. The drive, which was expected to produce $98.6 thousand towards building the new facility, actually generated well over $100,000.

PEDIATRICIAN TOM WHITNEY, M.D., and Jeannine Thornton, L.P.N., attend to patients at the Health Center on a part-time basis.

A vital resource for independent communities

"Towns like Bethel, Rumford, Mexico, Peru and Dixfield have become the subject of national curiosity and even envy for a lot of good reasons.... The answer to the question of 'what enables these towns to thrive despite the changes in our society?' can be summed up in three words—independence, dedication and pride."

Forward Fellowship of the Universalist Church met on Monday evening with 15 present for the meeting and potluck supper that preceded the meeting. Plans were made for the chicken pie supper and fall sale which will be on Nov. 20. The sale committee consists of Cynthia Lamb, Mary Emery, Lempi Cyr, and Beryl Bonney. Planning the supper will be in charge of Martha Day and Mary Emery. Publicity will be handled by Miriam Inman. Other committees are not complete at this time. Lempi Cyr won the mystery package. The next meeting will be on Nov. 24 at Peg Perham's home with a potluck supper at 6 p.m. Pokeno will be enjoyed after the meeting.

The benefit supper for Tom Elliott last Saturday was over-whelmingly successful. They came from near and far. The dance was also well attended helping to add to the proceeds. Many thanks to each and everyone by helping, attending or contributing to the cause.

Ohlie Buck is ill with pneumonia and is at the home of his daughter, Joyce Lindnord, South Paris.

Mrs. Phyllis Prince, Mr. and Mrs. Ozie Jaaranen of Norway and Carleton Miller of Augusta were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Inman on Tuesday evening.

Lena Mustonen returned home on Wednesday after spending two weeks visiting her grand-daughter, Melanie Mustonen in Reston, Va. She reports that she really enjoyed flying.

Ann Proctor and Miriam Inman were in Lewiston on Tuesday. On Wednesday evening they attended the Oxford Hills Junior High School and High School's marching band concert. Ann's grand-daughter Michelle Murch is a member of the high school band. It was a very good performance.

Six year old Ryan Hadley is a patient at New England Medical Center in Boston, Mass., recovering from a recent automobile accident. His address is: New England Medical Center, Floating Unit, 7th Floor South, Room #773, 171 Harrison Ave., Boston, Mass. 02111. He will be happy to receive cards, as he will be there for some time.

West Paris Grange will be meeting on Nov. 6 and anyone who did not take their dish home from the benefit supper, may pick it up from the grange hall after 7 p.m.

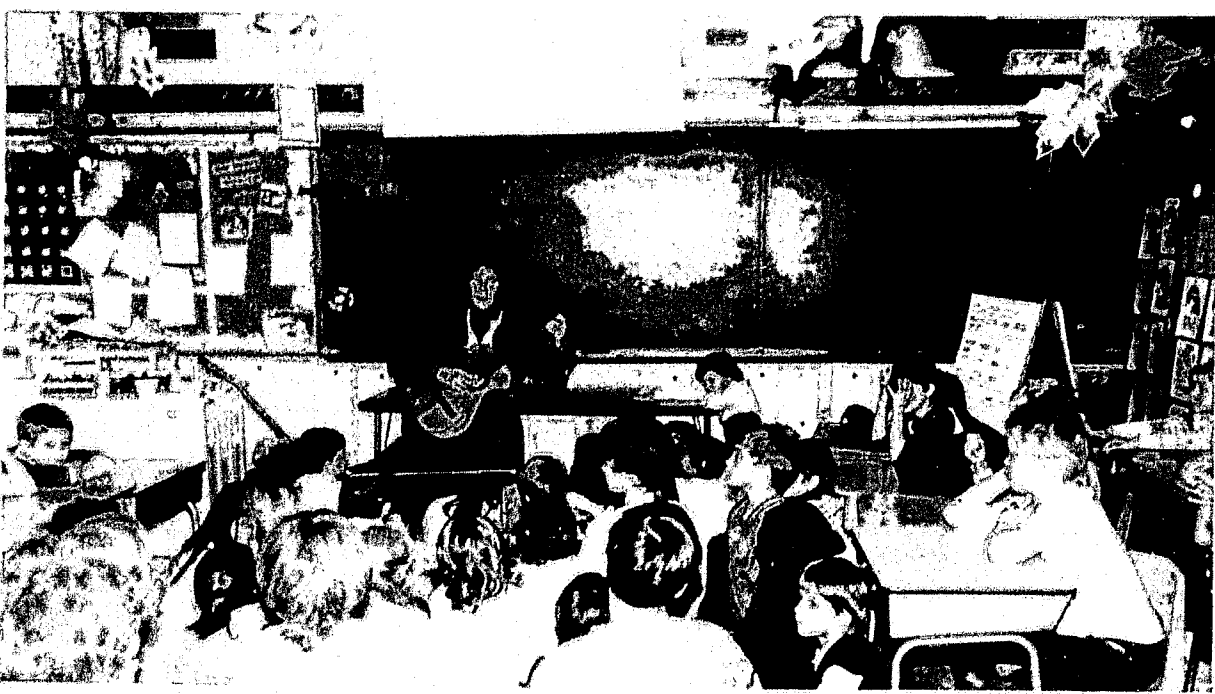

The Grange will be sponsoring a public harvest supper on Nov. 8 at 5:30 p.m. There will be a dance following with music by Richard Felt and Co.

The Eleanor B. Forbes Goodwill Group met at the church on Tuesday, Nov. 11, at 1 p.m. They were making articles for the fall sale.

Granite Chapter #115 O.E.S. will hold their meeting on Thursday, Nov. 13. It will be friendship and talent auction night. A 6 p.m. potluck supper will precede the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Doughty were supper guests of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Doughty, on Wednesday night.

Hunting season is upon us and I hope all the hunters have a safe hunting season.

JIM SCOTT TEACHES STUDENTS in Mrs. Wight's class at Crescent Park School about nature through a song. The singer/songwriter appeared at SAD #44 schools through the efforts of the Mahosuc Arts Council.

Middle school parents will meet again Nov. 11

The Telstar Middle School parent group met last month with about 15 present. The group, consisting of parents and faculty formed smaller groups to better discuss topics from the previous meeting. Each sub-group showed interests and concerns in varying areas which helped the entire group to realize that the membership can work toward more than one or two goals and activities at a time.

There was discussion on communications, both within the school itself (parents, students, faculty) and stretching to the district towns and communities. Another topic of interest was having the parent group invite guest speakers, groups, etc., who may present ideas or information that would be beneficial to the parent group.

There is a need for volunteers to work on the Spanish Student Exchange program, on upcoming school events and on looking into activities that the group may wish to establish or support.

The next meeting will be Tuesday evening, Nov. 11, at 7 p.m., in the Telstar library. There are many things to talk about and work at. If you have a middle-schooler or educate one, your input would be appreciated.

E.B.S./C.P.S. CRAFT FAIR SATURDAY, NOV. 15

Ethel Bisbee and Crescent Park schools are having a craft fair, Saturday, Nov. 15, 10 a.m.-3 p.m. at Crescent Park School. Local craftspeople will have tables. There will be a teachers and parents craft and baked good table. Also featured will be crafts made by children, and recycled toys and books.

Those who wish to rent a table may call Laurie Bergeron at 824-2142, 8-2 weekdays, or the schools.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the monthly meeting will be held Thursday, Nov. 6, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House beginning at 7:30 p.m. Featured speaker will be Margaret Joy Tibbetts who will make a presentation on the history of Grafton, Maine, a town that once flourished in the 19th century, but which today has only cemeteries and cellar holes remaining as reminders of its once lively past. Anyone interested in attending this meeting is cordially invited to do so.

New members this week are Sally T. Rollinson of Bethel, and James D. Konkel of Findlay, Ohio.

The most recent contributors to the society's 1986 Endowment Campaign include Carolyn With Harrison, Spindale, N.C., in memory of Elizabeth E. Wight; Earlon and Mary Keniston, Bethel, in memory of Vernon (Tink) Brown; Donald and Mary Calderwood, Mesa, Ariz., in memory of P. Sheridan Chapman. Much gratitude is expressed for these generous donations.

Society Director Stanley R. Howe attended a meeting of the Maine Advisory Panel of the Maine Arts Commission on Friday in Augusta. Dr. Howe is one of six museum professionals from around the state who advise the commission on the merits of grants received from Maine institutions.

The society hosted approximately 35 persons who attended the oral history workshop on Saturday. Featured speaker for the event was Dr. Edward (Sandy) Ives, director, Northeast Archives of Folklore and Oral History. The session was one of six around the state sponsored

Andover School news

Smokey the Bear visited grades K-4 at the Andover Elementary School last Thursday. Smokey spoke to the boys and girls about forest fire prevention and gave them information and activities to take home, including "Smokey the Bear's Story of the Forest."

The fifth and sixth graders watched an excellent movie about forest fire prevention and forest use. Forest Rangers Brad Barret and Greg Hesslein answered questions from the class after the movie.

Grade 1 will be involved in a Hospital Awareness program sponsored by Rumford Community Hospital today (Wednesday), at 9 a.m., at AES.

Monday, Nov. 10, is a workShop day and parent/teacher conference day. Conferences will be held from 1 to 8 p.m., except for 4-6 p.m. If you have not already done so, please return the form sent home to indicate the time you prefer for your conference.

The parent/teacher group wishes to thank all those whose efforts made the Halloween Party such a success.

The end-of-the-season soccer banquet was held Oct. 28, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David White, in Andover.

Coach John Emery was presented with a signed soccer ball and card, in appreciation for his coaching without pay.

A barbecue chicken dinner was served, with Mr. White tending the grill. It was served by Stephanie Percival and Barbara Masher. Cake and ice cream were enjoyed as dessert.

Those on the team who enjoyed the dinner were: Nathan Emery, Chad Bishop, Joanne Masher, Andrew Hutchins, Dean and Danny Irish, Jennifer Percival, Ben Wyman, Suzanne Richardson, Keith Smith, Kelly Cronin, Danny Thibodeau, P.J. Farrington, Jon Thurston, Jason Standeven, Toby Farrington, A.J. Milligan, Kevin Morton.

The team finished the season 2-2. The victories were against Woodstock, 6-4, and Rumford, 5-2; while the losses were versus Woodstock, 4-3, and Telstar Middle School, 6-1.

by the University of Maine and the Northeast Archives with funding provided by the Maine Humanities Council and Champion International Corporation. Participants were treated to an instructive video of Dr. Ives following up on the oral history possibilities raised by the recent popularity of the film "From Stump to Ship." Included here were examples of Dr. Ives' techniques and innovative ideas as the best ways to obtain the most satisfactory interviews. All participants also received guides for best results in oral history prepared by Dr. Ives.

LOCAL GOLFER QUALIFIES FOR ECAC TOURNEY IN N.Y.

University of Southern Maine senior David Whitman, of Bryant Pond, has become one of only three Maine collegiate golfers to qualify for the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) Championship Tournament. The championship rounds were played on Saturday, Oct. 18, at Colgate University, in Hamilton, N.Y.

Whitman fired an impressive 77 at the qualifying round in Portsmouth, N.H., to win his berth in the ECAC title match. His score was two strokes better than the score posted by Brian Bickford, of Cumberland, USM's number one golfer.

"He was outstanding," said USM Coach Joseph Hearn, of Whitman's performance. Whitman posted scores of 95 and 92 at the ECAC title rounds in New York.

A graduate of Telstar Regional High School, Whitman participated in baseball, basketball and soccer. But since arriving at USM, he has turned his attention strictly to the links. The 77 at Portsmouth was his best effort of his collegiate golfing career.

Whitman, a business administration major at USM, plans to work in the field of hotel management. He is the son of Herbert and Carol Whitman, of Bryant Pond.

By ALICE KIMBALL

Mr. and Mrs. Allan O. Swan, of Eagle River, Alaska, are the proud parents of a baby son. Christopher Ryan Swan joined his sisters, Sheri and Tami, on Sunday morning, Oct. 19, 1986.

Friends and relatives here of Marsters York are sorry to learn he has been a surgical patient at the Barre, Vt., hospital. He is now convalescing at his home in Williamstown, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Wagner are living in the home they purchased from the Pat Greniers. Welcome to our neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Kimball were dinner guests Sunday of their daughter, Mrs. Alberta Ridlon and family, in Denmark. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Rugg, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Andrews of Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fox of Monmouth, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Barker of South Paris. Jimmy and Christine were in Rumford Thursday for his medical check-up.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parsons attended the Community Concert in Rumford Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Elmira Doyen, Mrs. Connie Hindman, and Mrs. Ann Cross were in Gorham and Berlin, N.H., Friday.

Some buffle-head ducks, hooded mergansers, the loon, and a grebe have been enjoying the waters of the pond recently.

I returned home Wednesday night from an eight day visit with relatives in Aroostook County—going and coming with a cousin from Connecticut. She spent overnights with me both ways.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Salway spent last Saturday at USM, Gorham, observing parents day with their children, Kassi S. Gatchell and Brandon Salway.

Mrs. Phyllis Bancroft has completed her series of treatments at CMMC in Lewiston.

Laurence Kimball remains a patient at the Maine Medical Center in Portland.

The most valuable of all talents is that of never using two words when one will do.

Hanover

By DONNA WORCESTER

Ghosts, goblins, witches, clowns, dogs, dragons, bums, and all sorts of imaginable creatures invaded the Knights of Pythias Hall in Hanover on Oct. 31 for the Halloween party. Thirty-six young folks and 20 adults enjoyed games and refreshments. Gail Worcester operated a bean bag toss and Brian Pingree ran another bean bag game. Gail Weston told fortunes. Neil Weston and Frances Garmon operated the fish pond and Judy Mazza ran a candy corn guessing contest. Assisting where needed were Spencer and Linda Couture and Donna Worcester. Judges for costume contests were Earl Hutchinson and Jeff Tucker.

In age group five and under Mike Worcester was most original; Lindsey Pitcher was cutest; and scarier was J.B. Pingree. Winners in age group six to eight was Jessica Bean, cutest; Jenny Worcester, most original; and Deven Fortin, scarier. Age group nine to twelve winners were Amiee Rock as cutest; Jamie Ippolito as most original; and Neil Weston was scarier.

Mystery adult prize went to Tom Hammond. Door prizes were won by Shannon Couture, Kristen Pitcher (passes to Rumford Cinema) and Jason Holham (candy egg surprise). Stephanie Couture guessed closest in the candy corn contest and won the whole jar of candy.

Party organizers expressed appreciation to all the businesses, organizations and individuals who helped make the third annual Halloween part a success with donations of money, supplies and time.

Daisy Girl Scout Troop 783 had a Halloween Party Oct. 27 at the home of Troop Leader Debbie Swan. Mrs. Linda Couture made a Halloween pumpkin cake.

Mrs. Rose Hutchins helped and Mrs. Eleanor Holgate was costume judge.

Jessica Couture had the best costume. Stacy won pin-the-nose-on-the-pumpkin.

Christy Newell was the best at ghost throwing and Stacy Swan came in first in the pumpkin hunt and string the apple. Kristen Milligan made the best picture.

Dr. and Mrs. Norman Ferguson III (nee Lisa Ramsey) of San Antonio, Tex., announce the arrival of their son, Eric Ramsey Ferguson, on Oct. 22, 1986.

Gory ghouls, ghosts & goblins gamboled on Halloween

This big baby was spotted at Ripley & Fletcher, on Main Street. Cleverly she had on long johns underneath her diapers.

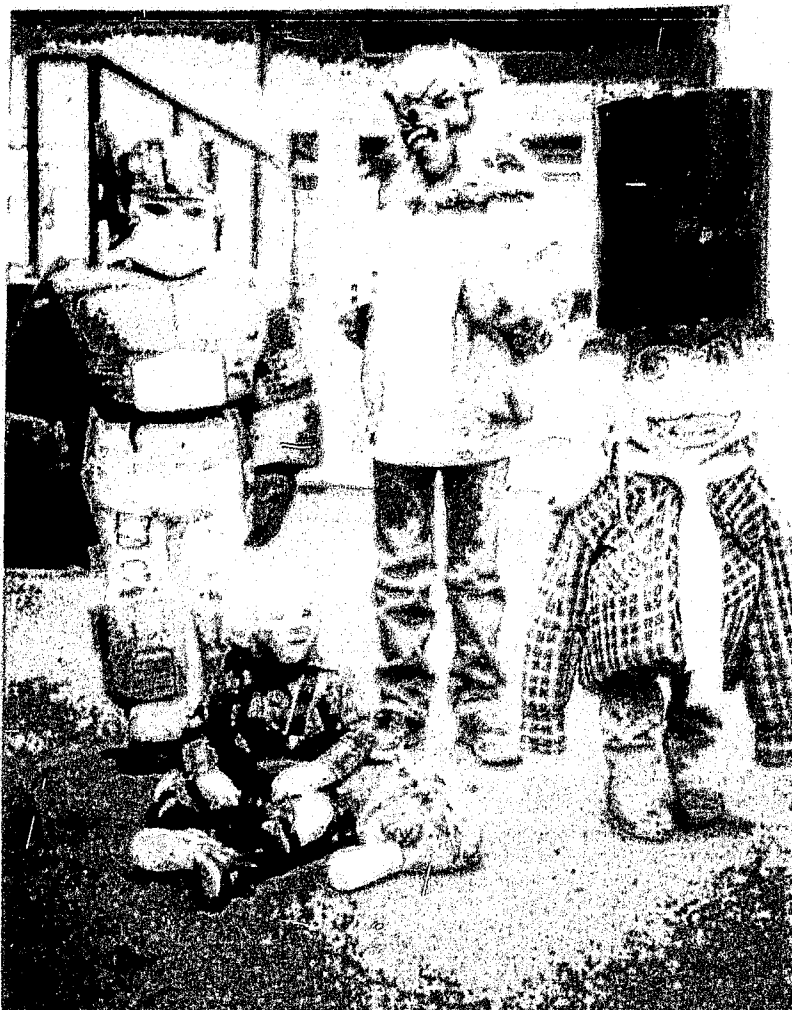

Hi, Mom!

GAMM'S GOBLINS included Pat Anderson (who took 1st place for her get-up), Kristi Bundy (2nd place), Ruby Coolidge (tied for 3rd) and Judy Lamontagne (tied for 3rd).

YOUNG TIM HEBERT GOT PAINTED by Mummy Monica and Jim Chandler at Woodstock Elementary School's Halloween Party.

WINNERS IN THE SAVINGS BANK costume contest were: Optimus Prime (Jason York), Werewolf (Andy Dennis), Midget (Amanda Warren), and Hobo (Michael Hoy).

"ROCKY" EMERY IS ESCORTED down the street by a bunch of characters in Andover Elementary School's parade.

THESE GORGEOUS GHOULIES inhabit the Bethel Savings Bank. The charwoman, at bottom (Jane Rolfe) won a $50 bond for best costume.

THESE HORRIBLES came into town from the West Bethel Children's Center.

THIS OLDTIMER was spotted making furniture parts at Bethel Furniture Stock.

CRESCENT PARK SCHOOL KINDERGARTNERS drew stares as they paraded on Main Street.

URBAN C. BARTLETT JR. AND HIS WIFE NEDA receive the Tree Farmer of the Year plaque from Maine State Grange Master Curtis Lombard.

Local tree farmer honored at State Grange

Urban Clark Bartlett Jr., Bethel, and his wife Neda, were guests of honor at the 113th annual session of the Maine State Grange and at a luncheon in recognition of his selection, for the second time, as Maine Tree Farmer-of-the-Year.

Mr. Bartlett registered his property, on the East Bethel Road, as a Tree Farm in 1960 and two years later was picked as Maine's Outstanding Tree Farmer-of-the-Year. He was chosen again in 1986, on the basis of the continuing gains in productivity of his 600 woodland acres.

The ceremonies honoring him were held in the Holiday Inn by the Bay, in Portland, on Oct. 23. State Grange Master Curtis Lombard presented the Grange Herald Outstanding Tree Farmer-of-the-Year plaque. Fred Beck, Bangor, chairman of the Maine Tree Farm Committee, presented the American Forest Council's laser-cut Outstanding Tree Farmer plaque and a new chainsaw—the gift of the McCulloch Corp. Beck and Bartlett both spoke to State Grange members on the Tree Farm program. Abbott Ladd, a Boise Cascade forester who works with Bartlett, also was introduced.

At the luncheon, attended by 21 Tree Farm and Grange guests, Bartlett and Beck again spoke, and R. Leon Williams, of the Williams Lumber Co., East Ed-

Sunday River Inn featured in new book

The Sunday River Inn and Ski Touring Center is one of two Maine inns featured in a new book entitled "Cross Country Ski Inns of the Eastern U.S. and Canada."

The other Maine inn described in the book is the Little Lyford Pond Lodge, in Brownville.

The book was written by Marge Lamy and published by The Stephen Greene Press, Inc. It is distributed by Viking Penguin, Inc., of New York, N.Y.

Of the atmosphere of the inn, the author says, "The Wrights run the kind of place where people can be themselves. The camaraderie that develops, with a little coaching from Steve and Peggy, is something special."

dington, was emcee.

Mr. Bartlett said an ancestor gave 20 acres in 1781 for land that has been in the family ever since and makes up part of his present holdings.

His objective in managing the land is, he said, "to obtain maximum financial returns within the confines of good forest management and taking advantage of related multiple uses."

He does not clear-cut, he said. All his harvesting is by selective cutting, and all reforestation is natural. He takes out about 20 cords of firewood a year, accomplishing some weeding and thinning as he does it. His principal harvests, however, are saw logs, boltwood and pulpwood.

He reported these recent results: 1981: 351 cords of boltwood and pulpwood; 134,460 board feet of saw logs; 1982: 385 cords, 86,835 board feet; 1983: 182 cords, 129,790 board feet; 1984: 279 cords, 82,900 board feet; 1985: 213 cords, 78,115 board feet.

Since he began the management planning of a Tree Farm, Mr. Bartlett said, he has put in seven miles of good truck roads to service his lands and has eliminated most of the scrub pine, gray birch, poplar and other trash woods.

He also has a fire pond and has taken steps to control erosion by installing water bars and culverts, and by seeding any exposed soils.

Tri-Town Rescue

Tri-Town sent seven attendants and four patients to the mass casualty drill in Watford last week. The crew practiced working on a large number of patients with limited equipment in a mock gas explosion. Each patient was actually taken to the hospital so they could conduct a drill. The first such exercise was held in Tri-Town last fall at the Mollycocket Mud Bog site.

The auxiliary is selling raffle tickets for a Thanksgiving basket to be drawn Nov. 20 at Penley's Mill. Contact any member for tickets. The auxiliary has decided to relax a little on fund-raising events, starting its yearly schedule of events in January.

Safety Tip of the Week
Deer season has arrived. Tri-Town wishes it is a safe one for all hunters. With the change of times, it is darker a lot earlier than before. Both hunters and drivers should be aware of this when planning. The hunter should allow time to get out of the woods before the dark sets in. The driver should be extra cautious of pedestrians or children getting off late school bus runs, who might not be as available in the dark.

REMINDER TO SAD #44 PARENTS

SAD #44 parents are reminded that although the elementary schools have scheduled parent-teacher conferences for Monday, Nov. 10, Telstar Regional High School will be holding a workshop on accreditation on that day. Parents of Telstar students will be meeting with the faculty on Thursday, Nov. 20, at an open house from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Report cards will be available that evening.

There will be no classes for students at either the elementary or secondary level in SAD #44 schools on Monday, Nov. 10.

COUNTY RETIRED TEACHERS TO MEET AT SOUTH PARIS

The Oxford County Retired Teachers will meet on Saturday, Nov. 15, at the South Paris Methodist Church. The social hour will start at 10:30, and the meeting at 11:15. There will be a craft show for members to sell or display their work. The afternoon program will be presented by the Junior Vikes and Viking Connection of Oxford Hills Junior High School.

Mr. and Mrs. David Wendall Roberts

ROBERTS - WALKER

Sunday, Oct. 19, Judy May Walker and David Wendall Roberts were united in marriage at the Bethel United Methodist Church by Rev. Lisa Vonderheide at two o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Walker of Bryant Pond. She is a 1984 graduate of Telstar Regional High School, a 1985 graduate of Associated Schools in Florida and is employed by K Mart in Rochester, N.H.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Jacklyn C. Roberts and the late Stanley E. Roberts of Bethel. He is a 1983 graduate of Telstar Regional High School and is employed by Gibbs Gas and Shop in Rochester, N.H.

Judy Gould of Bethel was the maid of honor and Michael Otero of Beverly, Mass., was the groom's best man.

Following the wedding, the reception was held at the Locke Mills Legion Hall. The music and announcements were provided by Brad Hooper and his band. The newlyweds are now residing in Rochester, N.H.

BORN

Oct. 19, to Mr. and Mrs. Allan O. Swan of Eagle River, Alaska, a son, Christopher Ryan.

Oct. 22, to Dr. and Mrs. Norman Ferguson III (nee Lisa Ramsey of San Antonio, Tex., formerly of Hanover, a son Eric Ramsey Ferguson.

MARRIED

In Bethel, Oct. 19, Judy May Walker and David Wendall Roberts.

DIED

In Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 28, Dr. Ronald Lippitt, long-time summer resident of Bethel, aged 72 years.

In Portland, Oct. 30, Frank Jordan, native of Bryant Pond, aged 79 years.

DR. RONALD LIPPITT

Dr. Ronald Lippitt, professor-emeritus at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, and well-known for his efforts and desires for developing and planning for the future, died Tuesday, Oct. 28, 1986, at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. He was 72 years old.

Dr. Lippitt's work in the field of Futuring led him to be hired last May as a consultant for the Ann Arbor Area 2000 project in which various members of the community are working together to create a vision of the city 14 years from now. Before Dr. Lippitt became involved in the future, however, he had already established himself as a formidable and accomplished intellect, having published over a hundred works on such topics as the processes of planned change and development in pluralistic, democratic society; and approaches to renewal and reconstruction of the traditional educational system and practices.

Dr. Lippitt was born and raised in Minnesota, received his undergraduate and professional training in group work and physical education in Springfield College in Massachusetts. He received an M.A. degree and a Ph.D. in child development and social psychology from the University of Iowa.

He began his professional career teaching Child Development, Educational and Clinical Psychology to teachers at South Illinois University. From there he progressed to numerous professional achievements, including helping to create the Research Center for Group Dynamics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was also one of the three founders of National Training Laboratories Institutes in Applied Behavioral Science.

Since 1947 he had spent each summer in Bethel in connection with the NTL. Last summer Dr. Lippitt was involved in a community workshop—A Vision into the Future for Bethel and neighboring towns, introducing the concept of community planning and techniques of involving citizens in the process of identifying community goals and of working to achieve those goals.

He moved to Ann Arbor in 1948 where he was University of Michigan professor of Sociology and Psychology until his early retirement in 1974. During this time he founded the Institute for Social Research there, and the Center for Research with the ISR for research on utilization of scientific knowledge.

He offered organizational consultation and training to any group, anywhere, with an eye to the future. More than 300 groups around the country—from the National Board of the YMCA to the city of Ypsilanti (Michigan) and its surrounding township were taking a creative look at their future using techniques developed by Dr. Lippitt and his associates over 10 years.

Dr. Lippitt leaves behind his wife of 27 years, Peggy Lippitt; one son, Larry Lippitt; three daughters, Martha Lippitt, Carolyn McCarthy, and Connie Cohn; and nine grandchildren.

Mandala folk arts ensemble appearing in Bethel Saturday, Nov. 22

The Mahosuc Arts Council will be presenting the Mandala Folk Arts Ensemble, one of New England's leading performing groups, at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 22, at the Telstar Regional High School auditorium.

Mandala, a Boston based ensemble of 35 dancers and musicians, takes its enthusiastic audiences on a world tour with authentic costumes, and traditional dance and music. Called "One of the area's most professional and polished dance companies" by the Boston Globe, Mandala gives up to 30 performances a year at colleges, for television and concert series, including Carnegie Hall and New York City's Harbor Festival.

The program is funded in part by a grant from the Bingham Betterment Fund, the National Endowment for the Arts, and the Maine Arts Commission, through the New England Foundation for the Arts.

The founding sponsors of the Mahosuc Arts Council are the Bethel Inn, the Bethel Savings Bank, P.H. Chadbourne and Co., Gordon M. Gilles, P.A., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Penley, and the family of Leslie B. Otten.

Tickets for the Mandala Folk Arts Ensemble performance are $3 for adults, $1 for children or $8 for admission to the performance and a reception following, and are available at Prim's Pharmacy or call 824-3306 for more information.

Rotary Club notes

At its weekly meeting Tuesday at Martha's Restaurant, the Bethel Rotary Club made member George Noll a Paul Harris Fellow.

Named for the founder of Rotary, these fellowships fund the Rotary Foundation, which in turn funds humanitarian and self-help projects throughout the world.

Mr. Noll is the tenth Paul Harris Fellow of the Bethel Club.

Frank Ward presented his classification talk, explaining how he has overcome his physical handicaps and held two long-term jobs and raised a family. He received a standing ovation at the end of his talk.

A number of Gould Academy students were guests at the meeting, including Kevin Plante, who is working with Boy Scout leader Dewaine Craig on earning his Eagle badge.

Ray Harrington distributed the tickets for the club's pancake breakfast, which will be held Nov. 23 in the Gould Academy cafeteria. Members will be selling tickets from now until the day of the breakfast. Proceeds from the breakfast will go to the "Jaws of Life" fund.

funeral ceremony.

The family requests that all donations be made to the Ronald Lippitt Action-Research Fund, c/o NTL Institute, P.O. Box 9155, Rosslyn Station, Arlington, Va. 22209.

NESTOR TAMMINEN, of the West Paris Grange, examines the new chairlift that the Grange purchased to help older members upstairs to the meetings. A new stairway was built for the lift to ride on. Total cost, paid for by fundraising, was $5,800. The lift will be dedicated Thursday evening, at 7 p.m.

NLRB dismisses charges by union against Boise

The National Labor Relations Board regional office, in Boston, yesterday dismissed the charges by the paperworkers union against Boise Cascade.

Local 900 of the United Paperworkers International Union had raised two cases against the Rumford plant following the conclusion of the 76-day strike, on Sept. 14. One charge alleged that the contract negotiations, which ended June 30 when the union declined to extend the old contract, were never at "impasse" and therefore Boise could not legally hire replacement workers. Boise hired 342 permanent replacement workers during the course of the strike, leaving that many strikers out in the cold when the strike ended.

The other union charge alleged that an incident between Boise guards and union picketers in the Mexico town office parking lot in July was designed by Boise to anger the strikers into refusing to reconsider the company's final offer.

An NLRB official told The Citizen, "We're going to dismiss the union's charges."

Elizabeth Gemperline, of the NLRB, who was in Rumford earlier to investigate the charges, said the union can still appeal the regional office's decision to dismiss the charges. But, she added, "Percentage-wise, the region's decisions are usually upheld by the national office."
